

ASD

From: "Carol Gader" <carol@healthierlives.net>
Date: Wednesday, July 07, 2010 8:35 PM
To: "ASD" <asd@dowsers.org>; "ASD OM-Arvid Johnson" <asd@dowsers.org>; "ASD TR-George Weller" <gweller@abacom.com>
Subject: Testimony on Finding Lost Ring

Another testimonie for lost items that I just found in my files.

-----Original Message-----

From: Sophie Glasser [mailto:bringjoy@verizon.net]
Sent: Monday, January 05, 2009 8:06 PM
To: Carol Gader
Cc: Rich Kramer
Subject: Testimony on Finding Lost Ring

My husband lost his ring, we looked all over, then called on a dowser as our last hope. I was skeptical, but hey, I wanted his ring back on his finger. He finally got an appointment. The phone rang at the appointed time. "She said look in my coats", he yelled, (even though he'd already looked in them) and grabbed his coats and headed back to the phone. Not wanting to miss out on the action, I followed him. We felt his coats all over; no luck. "Well, I also wear heavy sweaters," I heard my husband say...I started feeling and reaching into his heavy sweaters, most of which were hanging in the bedroom closet. Hmm. "She says I should look in my backpack", he reported next (even though he'd already looked in that)... "She says the ring is going in and out of the house with me". I looked at the sweaters. Then right next to it, I saw hanging there was his favorite pair of carpenters pants, which has a million pockets. "Going in and out of the house with him," I repeated to myself. Something clicked in my brain. I started going through the pockets of his carpenters pants. I quickly felt something in a small side pocket. It was the ring. I screamed! HOORAY!!!!!! It was truly a team effort...Yay for dowsing!!

Thanks Carol

-S.G.